

Oh baby!

Special Delivery

We're excited to announce our newest addition! In our semi-annual Baby/Pregnancy issues we are including a pull-out section full of informative articles, the latest health information, media and product reviews, and our Baby & Pregnancy Resource Guide. You won't want to pass up this precious new advertising opportunity because this section is a stand-alone mini version of our publication -- loaded with non-dated editorial and resources devoted entirely to baby and pregnancy topics. Couples who are currently pregnant, planning a pregnancy, or have had a baby in the last couple of years will discover a very localized resource guide with insightful articles worth holding onto. If your organization caters to expectant and new parents, this is one special delivery you won't want to pass up!
